

If ever you have been in the middle of changing a baby's diaper or caring for a fussy baby and you drop everything to answer a ringing phone only to discover that it is a solicitation for something you aren't even interested in, you'll back the no call list. There are plenty of ways to advertise and solicit business without invading the privacy of our homes or intruding on our valuable time. Please do not weaken Indianas telephone privacy law.